

PROBLEM

A problem is the gap between where you are and where you want to be. How you frame the problem will shape your ideas and actions, so keep revisiting this space to ensure you have framed the problem appropriately.

What is the problem that you need to tackle? To the extent possible, indicate how where you are now differs from where you want to be.

Describe the problem from different perspectives. Show how your problem affects multiple actors.

